CONTENTS

Preface  xxiii

Acknowledgments  xxv

Introduction and Survival Skills (Case Briefing and Outlining)  1

I. Preparing for and Participating in U.S. Law School Classes  1

II. Active Reading and a Study Plan  4

   A. Time Management and Prioritization  4

   B. Engaged Reading and Studying  4

      1. Strategic Reading  6

      2. Reading with Focus and Efficiency  8

      3. Engaged Reading  8

III. Briefing Cases  9

   A. Components of a Case Brief  10

   Exercise  19

   Supplementary Exercise  25

Chapter 1 United States Common Law  27

Introduction  27

I. The Nature of U.S. Common Law, as Compared to Other Legal Systems  28

   A. U.S. Common Law Contrasted with Civilian Jurisdictions  28

   B. Background Norms of United States Law  32

      1. United States Law as Compared to Shar’ia (Islamic) Law  32

      2. United States Law as Compared to Asian Legal Traditions  34

      3. United States Legal Philosophy as Compared to Marxist/Leninist Theories  35

II. Comparative Development of Western Legal Systems  38

   A. The Civil Law Tradition  38

   B. The Anglo-American Development of Common Law  38

      1. The Founding of Circuit Courts, Separation of Law and Religion, and Stare Decisis  39

      2. The Role of Scholars  40

      3. The Jury System  41

      4. Common Law Civil Procedure: Writ Pleading, the Distinction between Law and Equity, and Its Effect on the Jury System  43

      5. Legal Education  44

III. The Study of Law in the United States: The Case Method  45

   Discussion Notes  48

   Bibliography  49
Chapter 2  Introduction to American Legal Research and the Federal System

I. United States Legal Resources 51
   A. Types of Legal Resources 51
   B. Advantages and Disadvantages of Various Research Media 52
II. Research Techniques and Interpretive Skills 54
III. The First Research and Interpretive Skills: Finding a Given Legal Authority and Understanding Its Relative Weight 54
   A. Primary Authority and Citation Forms 56
      1. Constitutions 56
      2. Statutes 58
      3. Regulations 60
      4. Case Law 60
         a. The Role of Judicial Review 61
         b. Official and Unofficial Versions 62
         c. Commercial Versions versus Official Versions 62
         d. Federal Court Reporters 63
         e. Regional Reporters 66
   5. International and Foreign Law 66
B. Secondary Sources 66
IV. The First Interpretive Skill: Relative Weight of Authority 69
   A. Primary versus Secondary Authority (i.e., law and not-law) 69
   B. Primary Authority: the Three-Tier Court System 70
   C. Primary Authority: Mandatory versus Persuasive 70
   D. Federalism, Subject Matter Jurisdiction, and the Preemption Doctrine 71
   E. Timeliness 74
      Discussion Notes 76
      Exercise 78
      Exercise Hints for Various Media 81

Chapter 3  Legal Reasoning and Objective Legal Writing 83

Introduction 83
I. Deductive Reasoning and the Syllogism 84
II. IRAC and CRAC Reasoning 85
   A. I: Identification of an Issue 87
   B. R: Analysis of a Legal Rule 88
      1. Types of Legal Rules 88
         a. Elemental or Conjunctive Rules 88
         b. Disjunctive Rules 89
         c. Exceptions 89
         d. Factors and Balancing Tests 89
         e. Totality-of-the-Circumstances Rules 91
      2. Difficulties in Stating Common Law Rules 91
      3. Inductive Reasoning: Incorporating Case Law into the Rule Analysis 93
4. Incorporating Policy Concerns
5. Considering Relative Weight of Authority
C. A and C: Application and Conclusion

III. Example of IRAC Analysis: The Gun-in-the-Boot Problem
A. Facts and Basic Rule Analysis
B. Case Law
C. Issue Identification
D. Example of a Case Law Chart
E. Factual Comparisons to the Harris Problem
F. Policy Analysis
G. Summary

IV. The Interoffice Memo
A. The Assignment: Interviewing the Employer
B. Interoffice Memo Form
C. Discussion Section
   1. Two-Issue Discussion Sections
      a. Rule Section (major premise)
      b. Application Section (minor premise)
   2. Concluding Sentence
D. Other Information about the Interoffice Memo
   1. Tone and Style
   2. Citations
   3. Plagiarism
   4. Revising

V. Sample Interoffice Memo

VI. The Open Research Memo
A. Definition of an Open Research Memo
B. Similarities and Differences between Closed and Open Memos
C. Checklist: Researching and Writing the Open Memo
   Discussion Notes
   Exercise

Chapter 4 The Legal Process
Introduction to Civil and Administrative Procedure
I. U.S. Civil Trial Procedure
   A. Summary of Civil Trial Sequence
   B. Documents and Details of Civil Trials
   C. Pretrial Procedure and Documents
      1. Preliminary Documents
      2. Discovery
         a. Policy Reasons for Broad Powers of Discovery
         b. Types of Discovery
   D. The Trial
   E. Levels of Proof and Standards of Review
      1. Level of Proof at Trial
      2. Standards of Review
II. Administrative Process 137
   A. Rulemaking Processes 138
   B. Adjudication Processes 139
   C. Judicial Review of Agency Decisions and the Chevron
      Standard of Review 140

Discussion Notes 142

Chapter 5 The Research Process 145

Introduction 145
I. Ethical and Practical Demands 146
II. The Research Process 147
III. Research Advice 147
   A. Media Choices 147
      1. Comparison of Fee-Based Computer Databases 149
      2. "Free" Legal Research: Noncommercial, Non-Fee Computer
         Databases and Crawlers 151
      3. Microforms 152
   B. Finding Tools 152
   C. Keeping on Track, Saving Citations 153
   D. Preserving Research Results 154
   E. Reading for Research 154
   F. Planning Project Time 155
   G. Determining When Research Is Complete 155
IV. Stage 1: Background Research and Preparation 156
   B. Jurisdiction, Area of Law, and Issue or Search Terms 157
   C. Research Media Choice 158
   D. Initial Research Plan 158
   E. Research in Secondary Sources 158
      1. Get an Overview of Area of Law and Underlying Policy
         Considerations 159
      2. Identify Probable Source or Sources of Law 159
      3. Revise List of Search Terms or Issue Statement 159
      4. Locate Applicable Legal Principle 159
      5. Scavenge Secondary Sources for Citations to Mandatory
         Authority 159
   F. Issue Statement Refinement 160
   G. Research Plan Refinement 160
   H. Sample Research Log 160
V. The Purpose and Importance of Secondary Research 166
   A. Secondary Sources: Hard Copy or Online? 167
   B. Types of Secondary Sources 168
      1. Restatements 168
         a. Media Choices 170
         b. How to Cite Restatements 171
         c. Updating Restatements and Scavenging for Primary Authority 171
2. Treatises and Hornbooks 171
   a. Research Methods for Treatises 172
   b. Media Choices 172
   c. How to Cite Treatises 173
   d. Updating Treatises 173
3. Legal Periodicals 173
   a. Finding an Appropriate Article 174
   b. Citing Law Review Articles 175
   c. Updating Law Review Articles 175
4. American Law Reports 175
   a. How to Find A.L.R. Annotations 175
   b. Updating A.L.R. Annotations 176
   c. Citing A.L.R. Annotations 176
5. Legal Encyclopedias 176
6. Digests 176
   Discussion Notes 178
   Exercise 178

Chapter 6 Researching and Updating Case Law 179
Introduction 179
I. Finding and Verifying Case Law 179
   A. Scavenging from Secondary Sources 180
   B. Using Citators to Verify, Update, and Broaden Research 181
      1. Scavenging Cases from Citations Given in a Case 181
      2. Citators 181
      3. Using Citators to Verify Case Law 182
      4. Using Citators to Locate Case Law and Secondary Authority 184
   C. Locating Case Law Using Subject Indexes 185
   D. Term and Full-Sentence Searches on Internet Databases 186
      1. Choosing the Appropriate Database 186
      2. Choosing between Boolean and Full-Sentence Searches 186
      3. Avoid Boolean and Full-Sentence Searches until You Have Used Other Methods 187
      4. Tailoring Boolean Searches for Accuracy 187
II. Citing Cases 188
   A. The Case Name 188
      1. Short-Form Case Names 189
   B. Reporter Information, Volume and Page Numbers 189
      1. Parallel Citations 190
      2. Pinpoint Citations 190
         a. Locating Page Numbers 190
         b. Citing Multiple Pages 191
   C. Court and Year 191
   D. Subsequent History 191
Chapter 7  Researching and Interpreting Constitutions, Statutes, Regulations, and International Law

I. Statute, Regulation, or Case Law: Which Is It? 195
   A. Locating Statutes 198
      1. Scavenge from Secondary Sources 198
      2. Use Subject Indexes to Locate Controlling Statute 198
      3. Analyze Associated Statutes 199
      4. Locate and Analyze Noted Cases in Annotations 199
      5. Use Citators to Update and Broaden Case Research 200
      6. Use Term and Sentence-Form Searches 200
      7. Research Legislative History If Needed 200
   B. Congressional Powers and the Legislative Process 200
      1. Structure and Functions of Congress 200
      2. How a Bill Becomes Law 201
      3. Researching New Statutes 203

II. Researching Constitutions 197

III. Researching Statutes 198
   A. Locating Statutes 198
   B. Congressional Powers and the Legislative Process 200
      1. Structure and Functions of Congress 200
      2. How a Bill Becomes Law 201
      3. Researching New Statutes 203

IV. Researching and Updating Administrative Regulations 204

V. Interpreting Statutes 205
   A. Plain Language 206
   B. Textualist Approach 209
   C. Purposive Interpretation 210
      1. Documents Generated During the Legislative Process 210
      2. Weight of Authority in Legislative History 211
      3. How to Find Legislative History Documents 211
      4. Controversies Surrounding Legislative History 212
      5. Interpretations Based on Public Policy 213

VI. International Law and Treaties 213
   A. Researching International Law Online 214
   B. U.S. Interpretations of International Law 214
      Exercises 215

Bibliography 219

Chapter 8  Rewriting and Style

I. United States Legal Writing Rhetoric 221
   A. The Ideal 221
   B. The Reality 222

II. Rewriting 222

III. Reorganization 222
   A. The Macro-Organization of an Objective Memo 223
   B. Reorganization of the Discussion 224
C. Small-Scale Organization of the Rule Section 226
1. Use of Case Law and Avoidance of Laundry Lists 227
2. More Than One Problematic Component 227
3. Sequence of Cases 227
4. Paragraphs Discussing Cases 228
5. Incorporating Secondary Authority 228
D. Small-Scale Organization of an Application Section 229
1. Structure of the Application Section 229
2. Fact-to-Fact Analogy 231
E. Reorganization of the Facts 232
F. Reorganization of the Conclusion 232
G. Picturing How Sections of a Law Firm Memo Work Together 233

IV. Editing 233
A. Paragraphs 233
1. Paragraph Structure 233
2. Topic Sentences 233
3. Transitions 234
   a. Transitional Sentences 235
   b. Word or Phrase Transitions 235
   c. Linking 237
4. Paragraph Length 237
B. Editing Sentences 238
1. Sentence Length 238
2. Sentence Structure 239
3. Paraphrasing and Using Language Consistently 240
C. Editing Details 241
1. Paragraph and Sentence Format 241
2. Word Choice 241
3. Grammar 242
   a. Verb Tenses 242
   b. Articles 242
   c. Possessive Form 242
   d. Capitalization 243
   e. Collective Nouns 243
   f. Punctuation 243
   g. Issues of Style 246
   h. Citations 247
   i. That and Which 248

V. Proofreading 248

Exercises 249

Chapter 9 The Technological Revolution in Law 253
I. Technology in the Courts 253
  A. Digitized Court Documents 253
  B. Digitized Courtrooms 255

Discussion Questions 256
II. Virtual Law Practice and Unbundling of Legal Services 256
   A. Virtual Law Practice 257
      1. Unbundling 258
   B. Changes to Traditional Law Firms and In-House Counsel 262
      1. Changing Use of Technology in Law Firms 263
         Discussion Questions 263

III. Legal Drafting 264
   A. Document Assembly 264
   B. Analysis of Existing Documents 265
   C. Document Management Systems 265
         Discussion Questions 266

IV. “Free” or Non-Fee Internet Legal Research 266
   A. Research Strategies 267
      1. Stage 1: Research 267
         a. Legal Dictionaries 268
         b. Secondary Sources 270
      2. Stage 2: Research 271
         a. Researching Statutes and Treaties 271
         b. Researching Regulations 272
         c. Researching and Updating Case Law 272
         d. Non-U.S. Legal Sources 272
         e. International Sources 273
      3. Stage 3: Updating 273
   B. Research Methodologies: Boolean Searches 274
      1. The and Connector 274
      2. The or Connector 275
      3. Problems with the Meaning of a Space between Words 275
      4. Parentheses: Using and or in the Same Search 275
      5. Proximity Connectors 276
      6. Quotations, Pluralization, and Wild Cards 276
      7. Getting the Most from a Search 277
         Exercises: Locating Authorities Using Non-Fee CALR 277

Chapter 10  Advanced Objective Writing 279
Introduction 279
   I. Types of Scholarly Articles 280
      A. Seminar Papers and Thesis Papers 280
      B. Law Review Articles 280
   II. Subject Choice and Development 282
      A. Identifying a Particular Issue or Narrow Area 282
      B. Approaches to Articles 283
      C. Unanticipated Research Problems 285
   III. The Contents of a Scholarly Article 286
      A. Thesis Statement and Abstract 286
B. Basic Organization of a Scholarly Paper 287
C. Footnotes 288
   1. String Citations 288
   2. Discursive Citations 289
D. Plagiarism Warning 291
   1. Reusing Your Own Work 292
   2. Disclosing Adverse Sources 292
   3. Using Confidential Sources 292
IV. Time Management and Research Strategies 292
   A. Avoiding Procrastination 292
   B. Research Strategy 293
   C. Storing and Organizing Research for Larger Projects 294
   D. Reorganizing Research: Pre-prewriting 295
V. The Writing Process 296
   A. The Natural Writing Process 296
   B. Prewriting 298
      1. Notecards and Preliminary Notes 298
      2. Outlining 298
         a. Organizational Paradigms for Comparative Projects 299
         b. Case Charts and Informal Diagrams 301
      3. Free-Form Outlining 301
      4. Dump Drafts 303
      5. Summary of the Optimal Prewriting Process 303
   C. Writing 303
      1. Problematic Sections 304
      2. Translation Problems with Comparative Topics 304
      3. Keeping Track of Citations 304
   D. Rewriting 305
      1. Organization 305
      2. Content and Scope 305
   E. Editing 305
      1. Signposts and Transitions 305
      2. Paragraph and Sentence Structure 306
      3. Style and Tone 306
   F. Introductions and Conclusions 307
   G. Polishing and Proofreading 308
   H. Final Thoughts
      Exercise 309
      Bibliography 310

Chapter 11 Persuasive Writing 311
Introduction: Objective versus Persuasive Writing 311
   I. Issues of Form 312
   II. Descriptions of Filings 313
      A. The Complaint 314
B. The Answer 314
C. Motions to Dismiss 315
D. Notice of Appeal and the Appellate Brief 316

III. Drafting Memoranda in Support or Appellate Briefs 317
A. Prewriting 317
B. Format 318
C. Drafting Sequence 319
D. The Introduction and Question Presented 320
E. The Statement of the Case or Statement of Facts 320
1. Be Careful When Incorporating to-Be-Established Factual Assertions 321
2. Use of Emotional Language 322
3. Balancing Accuracy, Unfavorable Facts, and Organization 322
4. Appellate Briefs: The Appellee’s Statement of Facts 323
F. Statement of Jurisdiction 324
G. Standard of Review or Decisional Standard 324
H. The Argument 327
1. The Umbrella Paragraph 327
2. Point Headings or Issues for Review 328
3. Formulate a Favorable Rule 328
4. Use the Favorable Rule to Develop Point Headings 330
   a. Distinguishing between Headings and Subheadings? 330
   b. Phase Point Headings to Incorporate Facts and to Advance the Client’s Case 331
   c. Determining Which Is the Strongest Point 332
d. Typography for Points and Subpoints 332
5. Supporting Arguments Using CRAC Analysis 332
6. Handling Counterarguments 334
7. Organizing Arguments for Factor and Totality-of-the-Circumstances Rules 335
8. The Prayer 337

IV. A Cautionary Note: Ethical Rules and Writing Standards Applicable to Advocacy 337
Discussion Notes 340
Exercise 342
Appendix to Chapter 11: Sample Filings 343

Chapter 12 Drafting Contracts 359
I. The Nature of Contract Drafting 359
II. Background and Preparation 362
A. The Initial Client Interview 362
B. The Outline 363
C. The Term Sheet or Draft Contract 364
   1. Term Sheet 364
   2. The Letter of Intent 365
D. The Contract 365
   1. Pattern or Formbooks and Other Resources 366
   2. The Form of a Contract 367

III. Drafting the Contract 367
   A. Title 368
   B. Date 368
   C. Introduction 368
   D. Recitals 369
   E. Definitions 372
   F. Terms (Substantive Provisions) 374
      1. Operating Clauses 376
      2. Termination Clauses 377
      3. Contingency Clauses 378
      4. Damages and Remedies 378
      5. Miscellaneous 380
         a. Housekeeping Provisions 380
         b. Provisions for Modification 380
   G. Signatures and Dates 380
   H. Notarization and Witnesses 381

Exercise 381

Bibliography 384

Appendix A: Preparing for and Taking Examinations 385

Introduction 385

I. Outlining and Studying 387
   A. Preparing an Outline 387
   B. Studying and Practicing with Hypothetical Problems 388
   C. Sample Outline 388

II. Taking U.S. Law School Examinations 391
   A. The Plan of Attack 391
      1. Read the General Directions 391
      2. Scan the Exam and Allocate Your Time 391
      3. Apportion One-Third of Your Time for Reading and Outlining Essay Questions 392
      4. Read Each Essay Question Twice 392
      5. Highlight Clues and Note Key Concepts 392
      6. Outline Your Answer 393
      7. Write Your Essay Answer with an Eye on the Clock 394
   B. Writing the Exam: IRAC and CRAC 394
   C. Common Errors 394
      1. Taking Sides 395
      2. Failing to State Controlling Law Explicitly 395
      3. Failing to Note the Relationship between Legal Issues 395